

PRODUCT QUOTATION PROCEDURE

Effective from 1° June 2026

Dear Customer,
for a long time, Tecnofire has absorbed the continuous price increases in raw materials, trying to guarantee stable price lists and to protect your business.

However, the extreme market volatility and the weekly increases in the prices of raw materials make publishing of a long-term price list no longer sustainable.

IMPORTANT CLARIFICATION

Currently, all products manufactured directly by us will not experience any price increase.

Starting from 1 June 2026, we will adopt a new operating procedure for third-party products in the catalog, with the aim of always guaranteeing you maximum transparency.

No short-term price lists

This is to avoid continuous and sudden price changes.

Price quotes on request

For each request for material, you will receive a specific quotation in real time by our Sales Network.

This will allow us to formulate appropriate technical and economic proposals right at the time of ordering, while continuing to do everything possible to control prices.

Our aim is to return to a stable price list with a validity of at least six months, as soon as the market has stabilized.

Certain of your understanding and grateful for your role as a partner in managing this complex market phase, our Sales Network remains at your complete disposition for any need.
